

PET-Xi CASE STUDY

Langley School Review - Case Study, November 2022

PET-Xi's core business is tutoring disadvantaged and low achieving KS2- 4 school pupils, a targeted service we have delivered nationally for 26 years. We have helped over 152,500 pupils by delivering intensive, motivational and inspirational tutoring which is carefully-crafted and designed for schools to select according to their specific requirements. Each interaction is carefully structured to achieve optimal learning impact to close the achievement gap.

Over the last two years we have worked with over 450 schools nationwide, annually engaging 9000 pupils through targeted engagement (approximately 20 per school), 98.5% say that their confidence has improved as a result

“Our students at Langley have responded very positively to the tuition delivered by PET-Xi and we have been impressed in particular by the English tutor they have been working with. As we have now had confirmation of further ‘Catch Up’ funding, I would like to explore the possibility of continuing with the current model of tuition as delivered by PET-Xi in September to support our classes as required. The whole programme from set up to completion has been brilliant.”
