

GCSE English Literature Courses

We have many one-day immersive revision courses specifically aimed at putting the fun back into Literature while still embedding and reinforcing key concepts. We have days for a wide range of Set Texts, anthology poetry and approaches to unseen poems. We cover all examination boards, so get in touch to see how we can help you.

Approaching Unseen Poetry

This one-day course provides students with strategies to analyse and write about unseen poetry in examination conditions. It builds learner confidence in an area that many traditionally find challenging. Historically, schools have often side-lined specific approaches to unseen poetry, trusting that students pick up the skills along the way while studying the poetry in their designated anthologies. Research indicates this is now even more the case, given recent increases to the amount of course content.

Given the value of the unseen element to an overall grade (up to 20% in some cases), schools have been turning to this booster course as a means of ensuring their students receive optimum academic preparation in a dwindling amount of curriculum time.

The PET-Xi dynamic approach will build learner confidence and put the fun back into a curriculum area often wrongly perceived as dry and dull.

"I would just like to say that today has been fantastic! We have never received such helpful advice or resources before, thank you so much!"

Set Texts - One-day revision booster programmes

We have a range of one-day courses for GCSE English Literature set texts, designed to reinforce and embed key ideas, themes, characters and the plot. The courses, predominantly focussed on the texts themselves, also provide guidance regarding approaches to different types of examination questions.

The courses not only reinforce previous learning and bring the text to life but encourage the personal response that is so highly valued by examination boards. Please call us to find out whether we have a course for your school's chosen Literature set texts.

"A huge thank you to the whole PET-Xi team. We have been delighted with the service we have received from everyone we have been in contact with."
