

PET-Xi CASE STUDY

Nuneaton Academy Review - Case Study, November 2022

PET-Xi's core business is tutoring disadvantaged and low achieving KS2- 4 school pupils, a targeted service we have delivered nationally for 26 years. We have helped over 152,500 pupils by delivering intensive, motivational and inspirational tutoring which is carefully-crafted and designed for schools to select according to their specific requirements. Each interaction is carefully structured to achieve optimal learning impact to close the achievement gap.

Over the last two years we have worked with over 450 schools nationwide, annually engaging 9000 pupils through targeted engagement (approximately 20 per school), 98.5% say that their confidence has improved as a result “PET-Xi staff have been incredibly supportive and patient in the organisation of the NTP at our school and they take the time to explain everything.

“Most importantly is that they understand the situations that arise in a school and how that impacts any sort of plan-they have been flexible and empathic in this.

“Tutors are extremely conscientious and often go above and beyond in their support of our pupils. The programme model helps to teach and embed basic and progressive concepts in Maths and English. Tutors are also recognising where stretch and challenge is required and are proactive in providing and delivering bespoke materials.”
